STAR-BULLETIN $.75 PER MONTH

FOLLOWING FEAST STAR-BULLETIN NEWSBOYS WILL BE GUESTS OF THE ALL-CHINESE AT BIG BALL GAME

With a blaring of horns and the clamor of cheers, On a train that's a demon for speed, Oh, we'll shout and we'll sing, and the welkin will ring. The Star-Bulletin's host at the feed. —From Newsboy Lyrics.

Promptly at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning a special train will leave the O. R. & L. depot, having on board more than 100 Star-Bulletin newsboys who will be the guests of this paper at a big Thanksgiving dinner at Pearl City, scheduled to begin at noon and not to stop until every newsboy has eaten his fill from olives and soup, to nuts and ice cream.

It will be a gala day for the youthful vendors of "Today's News." Today, and there will be something interesting going from the time the special train leaves the station until long after it has returned to Honolulu. Best bib and tuckers—that is, Sunday clothes, freshly shined shoes and carefully washed hands and faces—will be the watchword of the newsies tomorrow, and it will be impossible to find a cleaner and better looking bunch of youngsters in Honolulu. Hilarity and jollification will start at the depot prior to the departure of the special, for here every guest will be provided with a tin horn and an American flag; and when boys have tin horns, it is unnecessary to tell them what to do with them. There will be no watchful conductor to demand quiet on the train, and the boys will be allowed to amuse themselves to their hearts' content. Then, when the pavilion at Pearl City is reached, there will be games and swimming until the bell rings the announcement that dinner is ready and waiting. Then will come the grand rush for the table, where turkey, cranberry sauce, pie, cake, soda water, ice cream and candy will disappear like lightning.

And where is the boy who does not enjoy a game of baseball? Sammy Hop, the genial manager of the All-Chinese diamond aggregation, has invited the newsies to be his guests at the game tomorrow afternoon at Athletic park, between the All-Chinese and All-Hawaiian teams, both of which recently returned to Honolulu crowned with the laurels of its numerous mainland victories. Sammy Hop's invitation forms a fitting climax to what will be a perfect Thanksgiving celebration for the newsies, and he may rest assured that the majority of the rooting for his team will come from those bleachers whereon will be seated the leather-lunged dispensers of news.

PATRONESSES FOR CHINESE BAZAAR ARE ANNOUNCED

Considering the amount of effort that has been put in, the bazaar of the Chinese Students' Alliance on Saturday, December 6, ought to be the most elaborate one in recent years. Over one hundred Chinese ladies and girls in their pretty native costumes will assist in the various fancy Oriental booths, and this alone ought to be an attractive sight.

Many score of these ladies have been sewing for weeks and will turn over some of the prettiest hand-embroidered pieces imaginable—slippers, gowns, cushions, handbags, kerchiefs. Several aristocratic Chinese families have parted with rare curios, art and party gowns in order to help out for a good cause. The Chinese sweetshop will have Oriental dainties, as several Chinese housewives will make the popped rice, the peanut and coconut candies, some of which are far superior to the western style. The greatest treat of the day will be the Mandarin dinner, which is prepared under the direction of the Chinese consul's chef. It will be served by 18 pretty, young, Chinese ladies. The boys who have recently joined the all-Chinese company in the National Guard will act as a legion of honor on the grounds.

With the bazaar only 10 days off, the heads and assistants are now putting things into final form. Next week the Y. W. C. A. Homestead lawn on King street, which is the scene of this pretty Chinese village, will be decorated.

The tickets are now in the hands of the members and the patronesses and may also be secured at the Pacific Framing Co., Hotel street. The patronesses include some of the most prominent women in the city and are as follows:

Mrs. W. F. Frear, Mrs. S. B. Dole, Mrs. F. W. Damon, Madame Chen Ching Ho, Mrs. M. M. Macomb, Mrs. E. J. Timberlake, Mrs. F. H. French, Mrs. F. M. Swamy, Mrs. S. M. Damon, Mrs. J. M. Dowsett, Mrs. C. M. Cooke, Mrs. F. W. Macfarlane, Mrs. F. J. Lowrey, Mrs. W. R. Castle, Mrs. A. B. Griffiths, Mrs. W. P. Ferguson, Mrs. W. R. Farinetti, Mrs. A. C. Alexander, Mrs. P. L. Horne, Mrs. D. Scudder, Mrs. W. R. Coombs, Mrs. W. D. Westervelt, Mrs. D. L. Withington, Mrs. J. P. Cooke, Mrs. L. T. Peck, Mrs. Chas. H. Atherton, Mrs. W. F. Dillingham, Mrs. Gerrit P. Wilder, Mrs. Theodore Richards.

Mrs. Mary Aki yesterday was appointed administrator of the estate of her father, the late Antonio S. Machado, by Judge Whitney, her bond being fixed at $700. The total value of the estate is set at $1596.28.

Present and Prospective Governors of One Opinion Regarding Flotation of Issue

Territorial Treasurer D. L. Conkling is inclined to disagree with Governor Frear and L. E. Pinkham, the prospective governor, over the advisability of floating the territorial bond issue in the East at the present time. According to information received by Conkling, the governor and Mr. Pinkham have agreed on the inadvisability of the flotation just now, basing their reason on the condition of the market and the present low quotation of Hawaiian bonds at New York. It is certain that Conkling will be able to enjoy his Christmas dinner with his family.

Treasurer Conkling has a theory, however, which he thinks if urged should have a remarkable effect on the value of the bonds, raising their quotation even in the face of the fact that the money market of the East is unstable pending action on the currency bill. He says the new income tax law favors all government bonds by placing no tax on incomes derived from interest on them, thus making immune all investments in federal, state or territorial bonds.

Hawaiian bonds, at the time Governor Frear wrote his letter to Conkling, two weeks ago, were quoted at 94 to 96. Those sold last year for an average of one or two points above par, and Conkling is inclined to believe that when the Eastern financiers realize the premium which the government has deliberately placed on such investments, the territorial bonds should be at a premium.

Governor Frear in a letter to the territorial treasurer suggests that following Pinkham's nomination a small bond issue may be made to meet the territory's more pressing needs, even if the bonds must be disposed of at a discount.

Governor Frear's letter to Conkling is in part as follows:

"My Dear Conkling: The prospects for an early bond issue are not very bright. The circumstances are such that I can not well act without Mr. Pinkham's approval and he does not seem to see his way clear to say 'go ahead.' Besides the continued failure of the senate to act on his confirmation, there is the weakness of the bond markets which leads Mr. Pinkham to feel that this is not a favorable time for an issue.

"Hawaiian 3 1/2 per cent bonds have been selling in New York recently at 94 to 96. Apparently there have been no recent sales of 4's. The pending currency bill renders uncertain what, if any, value our bonds will have hereafter as security for government deposits. Mr. Pinkham understands the need of an issue in order that certain public works may go on and losses be avoided. It may be that when he is confirmed a small issue can be made for the most pressing needs, even if the bonds have to be sold at a small discount.

"If anything new develops in the bond matter I will let you know. I trust that all is going well with you.

"Very sincerely,
"W. F. FREAR."

Verbal application for a social club liquor license was made to Territorial Treasurer Conkling yesterday for members of the 25th Regiment by Sergeant Flint and J. A. Magoon. Organization of the club is in process now and its headquarters are to be in the big frame building at South and Queen streets. Conkling believes he will have to issue the permit if the application conforms to the social club permit law. He has advised the applicants to submit their request in writing.

To Go With Certain Gifts

When one is presented with a box of Handkerchiefs, or a pair of Gloves, or a Vell, or a Mantilla, or perhaps some dainty piece of Lingerie, it always adds to the value of the gift and to the pleasure of the recipient to find enclosed a package of Sachet Powder.

This little touch of refinement, this proof of appreciative thought, lifts the gift out of the commonplace and puts it on a higher plane: it adds that little bit of intimacy the recipient so well likes.

(And, of course, Sachet Powder is exceptionally good as a gift by itself, and is always appreciated.)
